Tree & Shrub Catalogue.

Welcome from Easy Big Trees

Dear Valued Partner

When the colours of Autumn arrive and dropped leaves crunch deliciously underfoot, a simple afternoon walk is perfect for reflecting and nostalgia, but also planning and dreams of the future.

That's where we find the magic of Autumn. It's a season that delivers the very best of opposites, with a balancing act that allows us to enjoy the midday sunshine resting against a tree trunk with a cold drink, but also a gentle evening amble, rugged up with hands wrapped around a steaming hot chocolate.

None of this would be possible without trees and plants, and Autumn is when many of them provide their most amazing visual show. Shades of warming yellows and orange, burning red and intense crimsons, combine for a remarkable transformation that brings landscapes alive.

In the following pages, you'll find the trees and plants that do all of the above. There are more too. Because while some are very much for the here and now, some are for the future, and you can create your very own balancing act with them, creating a world of beauty for all seasons.

Finally, if we can help you in any way, please let us know.

Your friends at,

The humble New Zealand native is our connection to the past and the land. An important part of the natural ecosystem, natives invite wildlife and birdlife to our gardens. Such as the boisterous beauty of the Tui, which is known to favour the Kowhai and Rata, along with other natives.

Bringing natives into your garden adds a certain harmonious balance, whereby we coexist with nature and wildlife, at the same time as adding beauty to our outdoor space. It all comes with the added benefit of Natives being naturally versatile and hardy. They are relatively easy to look after.

Native White Pine- Anderson Park

Top 10 Autumn

ACER PLATANOIDES - NORWAY MAPLE

When mature, that oval to rounded crown is nothing short of spectacular. In summer months, its full with a dense collection of 5 lobed green leaves, and is the very picture of health. The leaves turn a golden yellow in Autumn before falling.

ACER RUBRUM - RED CANADIAN MAPLE

The deep green lobed leaves of summer create a neatly presented aesthetic. That show, when the red veins of the leaves spread the colour to each lobe tip, seems almost unreal. Ideal for smaller gardens and avenues.

AMELANCHIER CANADENSIS - SHAD TREE

Some trees give you a sign. The 'Service Berry' certainly does. When the white starry flowers arrive it usually coincides with the arrival of whitebait. The bronze tipped leaves of spring will give way to a fresh, almost mint green colour during the summer.

CARPINUS BETULUS 'FASTIGIATA' - UPRIGHT HORNBEAM

The clue really is in the name. Darting upright with its very tidy and compact form, this pyramidal tree has wonderfully bright green leaves that, oval in shape, have these fine corrugations. Best suited to smaller avenues and gardens.

FAGUS SYLVATICA - ENGLISH BEECH

Known as the 'Queen of British Trees', it has the most glorious leafy canopy, supported by branches that spread upwards. It has fresh, medium sized green leaves which are a resplendent green during spring and summer. Autumn, it turns to copper & gold.

FRAXINUS 'RAYWOODII'

- CLARET ASH

Growing upright, the Claret Ash has a sense of formality to it. Once mature it forms a well rounded tree. During the summer months, the narrow and glossy leaves have a deep green colour. In Autumn, it is as if someone has poured a rich claret over the foliage.

LIQUIDAMBAR 'WORPLESDON'

- SWEET GUM

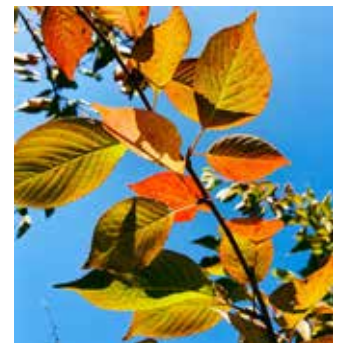

This is one of those trees that takes your breath away with its colour. The upright pyramidal form puts on a stunning show as the large star-shaped leaves change from green to gold, then vibrant orange, before turning red. It's a display suited to avenues.

PRUNUS VAR.

- FLOWERING CHERRY

One of the most decorative trees, the rich flowers of spring. Reddish-copper leaves emerge and turn to a dark green in summer, forming a canopy which offers shade below. Autumn is orange and bronze. In all seasons, it makes for a graceful ornamental tree.

QUERCUS PALUSTRIS

- PIN OAK

A popular tree with pyramidal habit and magnificent red autumn colour. A classic garden green' colour in summer, the leaves turn to a red velvet hue in Autumn. The pyramidal habit and Autumn colour make it especially attractive for avenue planting.

ULMUS HOLLINDICA 'LOBEL'

- UPRIGHT ELM

The dark green leaves are small, rough and closely arranged on short branches which maintain a pyramidal form, eventually forming a dense crown. They turn a striking bronze colour in Autumn and make for a remarkable street or avenue tree.

COLLECTION

The Harrisons Heritage Collection is a curated range of advanced specimen trees that have been carefully tended to by our 4th generation nurserymen.

The trees are up to 30 years old and, once planted, add an instant sense of history to a landscape, appearing as if they have been there for years. It's a wonderful way to transform the outdoor aesthetic, making modern landscapes look established and storied.

Harrison Heritage Trees range from 2 metres to 7 metres in height, in 200 to 5000L containers. Whilst the majority are deciduous, we do have an exclusive selection of Heritage Native and Ever-green varieties available.

10+yr old Formal Orchard Planting, Queenstown

One of the delights of summer has to be a late afternoon spent resting against the base of a fruit tree, from which you have just plucked the freshest, juiciest and tastiest apple. It will always taste better than any before it and have you daydreaming about harvesting the remaining apples, for succulent pies and preserves. Maybe even cider.

Our range of Fruit & Nut Trees average about 5 years in age. They are ideal for planting and already producing their crop. Making it remarkably easy to turn your garden into both a visual and actual feast.

Abbreviation Guide.

- Name: The first name listed is the Latin botanical name of the tree. This is a universal language used worldwide in the horticultural industry.
- Common Name: The name the tree is commonly known by. This column also includes any features.
- Cont. Size: Current container size of the tree, measured in litres - L or Lt.
- Height Now: Current height of the tree, measured from the top of the container.
- Calliper: The thickness or diameter of the trunk, measured in millimeters - mm. Bushy or trees with multiple stems will not have a calliper measurement.

Other Abbreviations:

- LW Low-Worked. Applies to Cherry trees, the graft is just above ground level.
- RP Root Pouch. See below.
- Std Standard. The height from base of tree to start of foliage.
- SF Self-Fertile. Does not require another tree for pollination.
- Var. Variety.

Root Pouches:

A selection of our trees are grown in root pouch containers. These are a unique type of grow bag that prevents root spiraling, creating a stronger root-ball and tree. These are also a more eco-friendly option, as they are manufactured from used plastic bottles and other natural fibres. Trees in root pouches are also suitable to be planted straight in the ground, as they are compostable.

Root pouch grown trees are listed with the other trees. Root pouch grown = RP
